

Aviation Search Group is a search firm that helps aviation companies hire the right people through a unique search process. We specialize in executive and technical search programs for the aviation industry.

Recruiting in today's marketplace can be challenging. The need to find top talent remains paramount for your organization, but in today's economic landscape, budgets require creative and cost-effective solutions.

Unlike other search models, Aviation Search Group creates a strategic partnership by developing a customized search program that focuses on your requirements while utilizing your internal recruiting resources.

Our Strengths:

- Our employees
- Integrity, judgment, and commitment
- Understanding of the aviation industry
- Large network and database of industry professionals
- Proven processes and procedures
- 10 years serving the aviation industry
- Industry recommendations